

XPO Logistics Expands Data Reporting to EPA's SmartWay Transport Partnership Program

October 10, 2017

GREENWICH, Conn. - October 10, 2017 - XPO Logistics, Inc. (NYSE: XPO), a leading global provider of transport and logistics solutions, has expanded its data reporting to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for the SmartWay® Transport Partnership Program.

XPO has been a SmartWay partner for more than a decade. The company's operations have been honored a total of 10 times through 2016 for superior environmental performance and actions taken to reduce freight-related emissions.

Troy Cooper, chief operating officer of XPO Logistics, said, "Our transportation businesses across the globe are committed to lowering the environmental impact of moving goods for our customers. SmartWay is a valued partner for us in the U.S., where we're investing in advanced technologies for our fleet and drivers, as well as carrier management. We're continuing to identify opportunities and see results."

The EPA's SmartWay Transport Partnership helps companies achieve their sustainability goals by providing a comprehensive system for tracking, documenting and sharing information about fuel use and freight emissions across supply chains.
