Notes to Financial Statements

Three Months Ended March 31, 2003 and 2002 (Unaudited)

1. Significant Accounting Principles

Basis of Presentation

In the opinion of management, all adjustments consisting of normal recurring adjustments necessary for a fair statement of (a) the financial positio March 31, 2003, (b) the results of operations for the three month periods ended March 31, 2003 and 2002, and (c) cash flows for the three month p ended March 31, 2003 and 2002, have been made.

The unaudited financial statements and notes are presented as permitted by Form 10-QSB. Accordingly, certain information and note discl normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of Americ been omitted. The accompanying financial statements and notes should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and notes Company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002. The results of operations for the three month period ended March 31, 2003 are not nece indicative of those to be expected for the entire year.

Stock based compensation

In December 2002, FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 148 (SFAS 148"), Accounting for Stock-Based Compens Transition and Disclosure. SFAS 148 amends current disclosure requirements and requires prominent disclosures on both annual and interim fin statements about the method of accounting for stock-based employee compensation and the effect of the method used on reported results. This stat is effective for financial reports containing financials statements for interim periods beginning after December 15, 2002. The Company currently i to continue to account for its stock-based compensation awards to employees and directors under the accounting prescribed by Accounting Prin Board No. 25.

The Company accounts for its stock option plan under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock to Employees, and related interpretations. No stock-based employee compensation cost is reflected in net income and no stock-based compen would be reflected in net income if the Company had applied the fair value recognition provisions of FASB Statement No. 123, Accounting for Based Compensation, to stock-based employee compensation. During the three months ended March 31, 2003 and 2002 there were no options g under this plan.

2. Sale of Accounts Receivable

During the second quarter of 2002, the Company entered into an agreement, a copy of which is annexed hereto as exhibit " B" , with a fac company to provide for the borrowing against eligible receivables of up to eighty percent (80%) of the face value of such receivables. The Co maintains any advances under this agreement as liabilities in its balance sheet and any receivables, net of allowances for losses, as assets. The borr against eligible receivables is not a true sale and the company keeps all balances due from customers net of allowances for doubtful accounts as and offsetting liabilities to reflect amounts advanced against such eligible receivables, pursuant to Statements of Financial Accounting Standa SFAS") No. 140 " Accounting for transfers and servicing of financial assets and extinguishment of liabilities," such amounts are not sold w recourse and therefore reported in accordance with provisions of applicable rules and guidelines.

3. Income Taxes

Income tax expense for the three months ended March 31, 2003 and 2002 is based on the Company' s estimate of the effective tax rate expected applicable for the full year. The effective tax rate of 29.0 percent for the three months ended March 31, 2003 differs from the statutory rate beca the effects of utilizing a net operating loss carryover and adjustments to the valuation allowance on deferred tax assets.

4. Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share (EPS) is calculated by dividing earnings available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common outstanding during each period. Diluted EPS is similarly calculated, except that the denominator includes common shares that may be issued sub existing rights with dilutive potential, except when their inclusion would be antidilutive.

5. Advance from Stockholder

Bryant Plastics, Inc., a stockholder of the Company, advanced $51,177 of cash, which is payable with 60 days prior written notice. This advance does not bear interest, and as of March 31, 2003, they have not made a demand for payment.

6. Loan Facilities

The Company has entered into several agreements with "accredited investors" that provide the Company with bridge loan debt on an interim basis. The debt ranges from twelve to eighteen months in term and provides for interest payments and warrant coverage, as well as conversion into Common Stock on terms that the Company believes to be favorable, ranging from $1.15-$1.50 per share.

7. Segment Information

Segment information has been prepared in accordance with SFAS No. 131, " Disclosure About Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information Company has two reportable segments: truck hauling brokering and warehouse operations. The segments were determined based on the types of se provided by each segment. The Company had only one reportable segment until the purchase of QLS in April 2001.

Critical Accounting Policies

Principals of Consolidation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and all of its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany acco and transactions are eliminated in consolidation. Prior to October 2001, the date of the merger, the financial statements are those of Trans-Logistics, Inc., the only operating company at that time.

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires manageme make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consol financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Operating Revenues

Operating revenues for truck brokerage services are recognized on the date the freight is delivered. Related costs of delivery of shipments in transit are accrued as incurred. Revenues from warehousing services are recognized as the services are performed.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made in the 2002 financial statements to conform to the classifications used in 2003. These reclassifications had no effect on tot assets, stockholders' equity, total cash flows, or net income.

Accounts Receivable

The Company extends credit to its various customers based on the customer's ability to pay. The Company provides for estimated losses on accounts receivable ba bad debt experience and a review of existing receivables. Based on management's review of accounts receivable and other receivables, an allowance for doubtful accounts of approximately $159,301 is considered necessary as of March 31, 2003 .

Deferred Tax Assets

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the consolidated financial statements carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective income tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates ex to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities change in tax rates is recognized as income in the period that included the enactment date.

Earnings Per Share Calculations

Basic EPS is calculated by dividing earnings available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during each period Diluted EPS is similarly calculated, except that the denominator includes common shares that may be issued subject to existing rights with dilutive potential, except w their inclusion would be antidilutive.

Use of Estimates

Fair value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management. The respective carrying valu certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values. These financial instruments include cash, notes receivable, accounts payable, and acc expenses. Fair values were assumed to approximate carrying values for these financial instruments since they are short-term in nature and their carrying amounts approximate fair values or they are receivable or payable on demand. The fair value of the Company's debt is estimated based upon the quoted market prices for th same or similar issues or on the current rates offered to the Company for debt of the same remaining maturities.

Contingent Liabilities

The Company is party to a number of legal actions, which are not material to operations pursuant to Item 301 of Regulation S-B

Stock Based Compensation

In December 2002, FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 148 (SFAS 148"), Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation-Transitio Disclosure. SFAS 148 amends current disclosure requirements and requires prominent disclosures on both annual and interim financial statements about the met accounting for stock-based employee compensation and the effect of the method used on reported results. This statement is effective for financial reports con

financials statements for interim periods beginning after December 15, 2002. The Company currently intends to continue to account for its stock-based compen awards to employees and directors under the accounting prescribed by Accounting Principles Board No. 25.

The Company accounts for its stock option plan under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employee related interpretations. No stock-based employee compensation cost is reflected in net income and no stock-based compensation would be reflected in net incom Company had applied the fair value recognition provisions of FASB Statement No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, to stock-based em compensation. During the three months ended March 31, 2003 and 2002 there were no options granted under this plan.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company has a cash overdraft of approximately $70,675 at March 31, 2003, compared with a balance of $248,310 at March 31, 2002. This decre approximately $318,985 was primarily a result of the Company's continued expansion and requirements for additional capital and growth of agent revenues dur current and prior operating periods.

During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002, the Company entered into a hybrid finance facility with Comdata, an industry leader in transportation finance, provides for 80% advance rates against eligible Company receivables for up to 120 days. This facility provides the Company with continued ability to expand as Co s size enables credit limits to expand as the eligible borrowing base expands. The Company estimates the cost of this facility to be approximately 15% annual Company continues to seek asset based credit facilities that would provide required funding at reduced costs. The Company had outstanding balances due to Com $1,464,569 as of March 31, 2003.

The Company has embarked on upgrades to technology and support infrastructure that it believes will enhance cash flows by providing customers and customer s representatives with access to delivery information and documentation that will enable efficient collections of accounts receivable from customers. There is no ass that we will be able to obtain financing on terms favorable to the Company or successfully implement infrastructure upgrades pursuant to our plans.

Our strategy is to continue to expand through acquisitions and internal development. We intend to seek, on a selective basis, acquisition of businesses that have p lines or services which complement and expand our existing services and product lines, and provide us with strategic distribution locations or attractive customer Our ability to implement our growth will depend on a number of things, which may be beyond our control. Successful deployment of this strategy will be dependent ability to identify, consummate and assimilate such acquisitions on desirable economic terms. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in implement growth strategy. Our ability to implement our growth strategy will also be dependent upon obtaining adequate financing. We may not be able to obtain financ favorable terms.

Item 3. Controls and Procedures.

(a) Evaluation of disclosure controls and procedures. Our chief executive officer and our chief financial officer, after evaluating the effectiven the Company' s " disclosure controls and procedures" (as defined in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 Rules 13a-14(c) and 15d-14(c)) as of (the " Evaluation Date") within 90 days before the filing date of this quarterly report, have concluded that as of the Evaluation Date, our disc controls and procedures were adequate and designed to ensure that material information relating to us and our consolidated subsidiaries would be known to them by others within those entities.
